REPORT FROM UNITED NATIONS

Nasser Ready For Peace

UN Circles Say Ready to Impose Peace in Middle East: President Lyndon B. Johnson.

BOURGUIBA'S PLAN FOR PEACE

PARIS (JCNS) — President Bourguiba told a special correspondent of "Le Monde" in Tunisia that one of the conditions for a peaceful solution of the Palestine problem could consist of a reversion to the 1947 United Nations partition resolution, which had never been implemented.

"This concerns the fixing of the borders between Israel and her Arab neighbours. The Israelis would return those parts of the territory which they now occupy, especially the areas of Jaffa, Acre and Nazareth, where Palestinian refugees would be able to settle.

"Of course," President Bourguiba added, "the Israelis would not agree. But at least the Arabs would be in a better tactical position and the moral support of the U.N. would be a serious asset to them. Maintaining a negative attitude of uncompromising refusal, and repeating that Israel's existence is an injustice — even if this is true — serves no purpose."

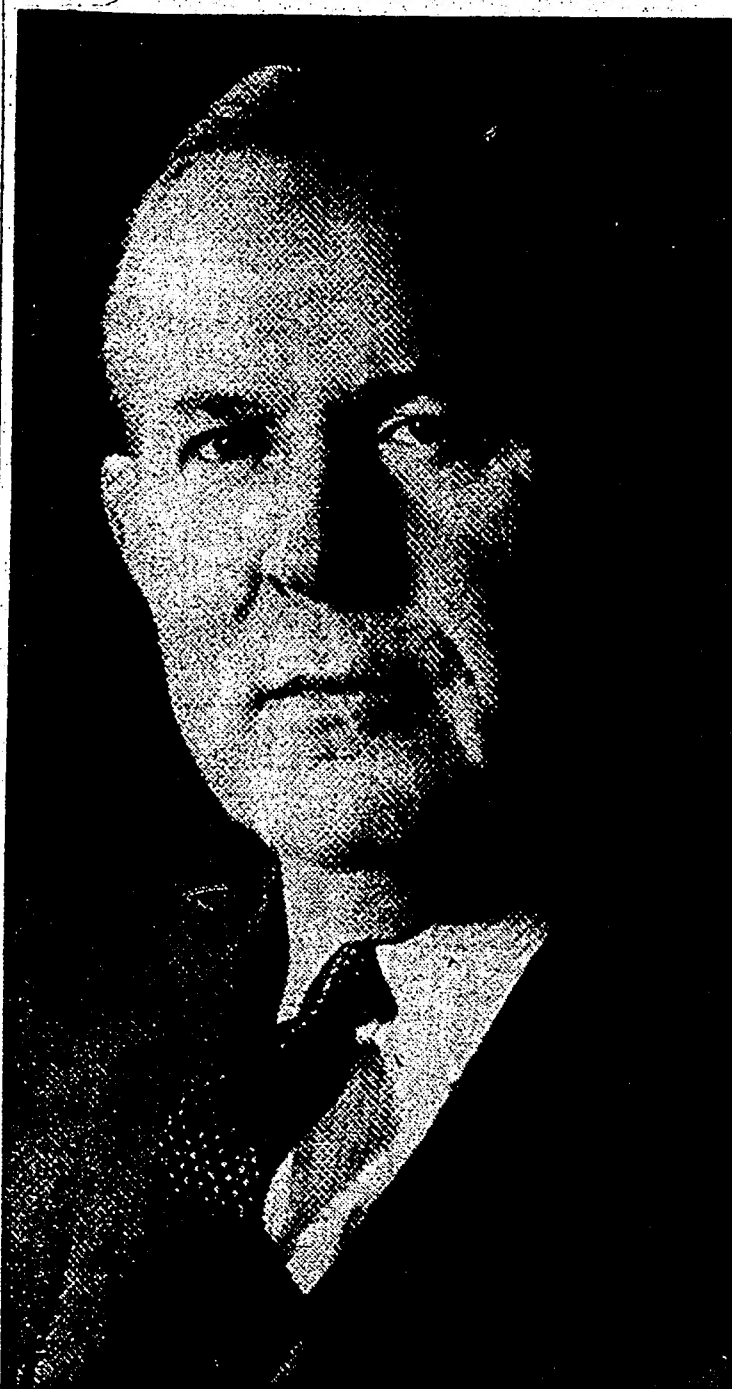

Earlier, President Bourguiba told the correspondent that he always maintained that the Maghreb should not play an active role in a problem which primarily concerned the Arab Middle East.

"Nevertheless, if I find it opportune to suggest ways for a possible solution, I am convinced of the need to approach it with a serious preparation of minds."

"As regards Palestine, one should therefore be realistic. We have passed the stage of recriminations and jeremiads. We must have the sense of what is human and not allow our feelings and hatred overcome our reason. Many people understood me, even Palestinian refugees applauded my suggestions. But it is a fact that President Nasser was in the midst of an election campaign at the time. Other Arab nations would not dare to say 'No' (to Nasser).

ISSUES PROCLAMATION

In connection with the observance of the 22nd anniversary of the Warsaw Ghetto Revolt, the Prime Minister, the Rt. Hon. Lester B. Pearson, has issued the following proclamation:

May I personally and on behalf of the Government of Canada join the Jewish Committee of Montreal in paying tribute to the memory of the heroes of the Warsaw Ghetto, who twenty-two years ago today made their historic stand for the dignity and freedom of man. Public observances of this occasion, and the tragic sacrifices it recalls, serve not only to remind Canadians of a story of imperishable courage, but inspires anew all those who understand and cherish the human values.

L. B. PEARSON, Prime Minister

EGYPT RULER REPORTED TO AGREE ON DEAL

U.S. SAID TO BE PRESSING FOR DETENTE IN THE MIDDLE EAST

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (Exclusive C.J.N. Report) — For the first time since the establishment of the State of Israel seventeen years ago, hopes here run high for a settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict and for peace in the Middle East. As things look here, at headquarters of the world organization, the United States is pursuing quietly, diligently, consistently, a policy of imposing its own solution in the Middle East strife. Some diplomats stationed here claim that the Soviet Union may be supporting this United States effort as Moscow has not been satisfied with the outcome of its recent intrigues in Cairo and elsewhere in the Arab world.

Here are, according to the best informed sources at the United Nations, the most recent developments in the Middle East:

● President Abdul Gamal Nasser of the United Arab Republic has been quoted in a Tunisian weekly as "not opposed" to a settlement with Israel. For the first time Nasser is reported to have hinted that he could accept the fact of Israel's existence and its permanence.

According to the same report, Nasser was asked by the Tunis "Jeune Afrique": "Let us suppose that Israel agrees to repatriation of refugees and the implementation of the United Nations resolutions on Palestine — would you accept such a situation?"

To this Mr. Nasser answered: "The African and Asian states announced... that they would achieve their objectives if the United Nations resolutions are carried out. (It would mean the internationalization of Jerusalem and the recognition of Israel.)" The Egyptian ruler then added: "On this point the Arabs are in agreement."

● Mr. Nasser's sensational statement on Israel followed a new interview by President Abib Bourguiba of Tunisia who last week, for the third time, urged a realistic approach to the Palestine question and Arab coexistence with the Israelis. In fact, Mr. Bourguiba alluded that Mr. Nasser had accepted the suggestion by the Tunisian president that he overtly proposes coexistence with Israel.

● The reports from the near East coincide with the information received about the complete breakdown of the so-called Arab unity vis-a-vis Germany and Israel.

● President Lyndon B. Johnson's special emissary to Cairo, Undersecretary of State Talbot, is in Israel now after negotiating with Nasser the latter's request for a $500 million U.S. food surplus allocation to Egypt over a period of three years. It seems that Nasser now is more concerned about the problem of Yemen and Iraq than that of Israel. Also his German policy has backfired and his only hope for continuous development with Egypt is a deal with the United States and peace with Israel.

Establish Economic Cooperation Between E. Germany and Egypt

LONDON. — "Weighty agreements" were concluded between Communist East Germany and Egypt during the visit to Cairo last month by Herr Walter Ulbricht, the East German leader.

In an interview, Herr Ulbricht said that the agreement on economic and technical co-operation between the two countries offered a firm foundation for the further development of their economic relations. "The fact alone that a high-level economic commission is to be set up illustrates the extent and import of this economic co-operation," he stated.

It was also important that "scientific and technical relations are to be developed by creating a joint German-Arab Scientific Council... I would like to state expressly that agreement prevailed in all the questions under discussion. This may surprise some people in view of the different historic conditions of our States and their varying stages of development. The agreement simply results from the fact that President Nasser and I regard the political problems of our time from a common anti-imperialist point of view..."

The East German leader spoke in hostile terms of "the aggressive nature of the imperialist base of Israel". He added that East Germany had "never mixed up the problem of the State of Israel with the problem of atonement and reparations brought upon, and the wrong done to German Jewish citizens and to the Jewish citizens of other European countries by the criminal Hitlerite regime."

But, "it makes a mockery of atonement and reparations when Nazi criminals who are responsible for the murder of millions of Jewish men, women and children go unmolested in West Germany and occupy influential posts. And, on the other hand, the West German Government gives heavy weapons and other military equipment to the imperialist military base of Israel for use against the Arab peoples... all this to camouflage and screen the evil-doers." (East Germany has refused to discuss the payment of reparations for Nazi wrongs).

"OLD GUARD" REPLACED

TEL AVIV (JCNS) — The "old guard" of the Israeli Manufacturers Association has been superseded by a younger and more vigorous group after last week's election to the Association's executive committee.

Mr. Zalman Susagel, a former General Zionist Deputy Minister of Commerce and Industry and now a leader of the Liberal Party (formed by a merger of the General Zionists and Progressives some years ago), is at the head of the new committee.

The change in the leadership of the representative body of the private sector of the Israeli industry came after criticism of the old committee, which was accused of being too soft in its attitude towards both the Government and the Federation of Labour (Histadrut), which is a very large industrial organization as well as being a trade union body.

An end to the "Government's bureaucratic obstacles in the way of exports" was urged at the Manufacturers' Association's general meeting, which also called for "proper and realistic incentives."

Another resolution declared that more effective use must be made of the Stock Exchange to mobilize capital for private, as opposed to Histadrut and Government, industry.

Labor Committee Plea To Russia

NEW YORK — The Jewish Labour Committee has requested the Polish and Russian Governments to make available to West German authorities photographs of documents on Nazi criminals who have so far escaped prosecution.

In a letter to the Polish and Soviet Ministers of Justice, the J.L.C. pointed out that the West German authorities had said that they would have greater success in their search for Nazi criminals if they had the information possessed by the Polish and Russian authorities. Tons of documents were captured at the end of the Second World War by the liberating armies and removed to Warsaw and Moscow.

CHINA ATOM SECRETS TO EGYPT

LONDON (JCNS) — China is said to have agreed to reveal to Egypt the secrets of her atom bomb, according to the official Cairo newspaper "Al-Ahram," quoted by the "Daily Telegraph".

TO SPEAK IN TORONTO: Milton Himmelfarb, renowned authority on intergroup relations, widely acclaimed author and contributing editor of Commentary, will speak on "The Role of the Jew in Civil Rights" at Shaarei Shomayim Congregation, this coming Wednesday, April 28th, 8:30 p.m. in the Social Hall.

Mr. Himmelfarb is Director of the Jewish Information Service of the American Jewish Committee, and editor of the American Jewish Year Book. He has contributed numerous articles to Commentary as well as to many other magazines. He is also co-editor of The Jewish People: Past and Present; co-author of Jews in Postwar World and Federal Aid and Catholic Schools; and a contributor to The Jews: Their History, Culture, and Religion.

date of departure arranged." In London, a Foreign Office spokesman said there had been no official confirmation of the Cairo report, the "Daily Telegraph" said. In Washington, the U.S. State Department said it had no knowledge of any agreement for sharing atomic knowledge between Egypt and China.

Urges Dialogue With Progressives

LONDON (JCNS) — A strong warning that innocent children might become the victims of the "stupid intransigence" of both the Orthodox and Progressive sections of the Anglo-Jewish community was given by Dr. Isaac Levy, former minister of Hampstead Synagogue (United Synagogue) when he addressed the annual conference of the Union of Liberal and Progressive Synagogues at the St. John's Wood Liberal Synagogue here.

Urges Dialogue With Progressives

Dr. Levy, now the director of the J.N.F. in Britain, was the first Orthodox minister to address a Union conference. He spoke on "Healing the Breach" and urged the two sections of Anglo-Jewry to bring about a dialogue between themselves.

NAZI VICTIMS REBURIED

VIENNA — The bodies of 87 Hungarian Jews murdered by the Nazis in the last days of the Second World War, were transferred to the Jewish cemetery of Linz on the initiative of the Vicar of Enns, Dr. Eberhard Marckgott, who had been an eyewitness of the mass execution. He had buried them with his own hands in a temporary grave.

The funeral procession from Enns to Linz was led by the Chief Rabbi of Vienna, Dr. Akiba Eisenberg. Also taking part were the Chief Rabbi of Budapest, Dr. Maté, the president of the Hungarian Jewish community, Dr. Endre Sos, Dr. Marckgott, as well as many personalities, among them the Landeshauptmann, Dr. Gleissner, and the former Mayor of Linz, Dr. Kref.

Nasser's special emissary, had talks in Peking with Chen Yi, the Chinese Foreign Minister. But no mention of the atom report was made after the talks.

WARSAW GHETTO MEMORIAL APRIL 29

A mass turnout of Toronto's Jewish Community is expected at the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising Memorial on Thursday, April 29, 8.15 p.m. at the Beth Tzedec Synagogue, Bathurst St.

In addition to the memorial theme, the event will provide an opportunity for the Jewish public to pay tribute to the Ghetto heroes and all the other resistance forces against Nazism, to reaffirm commitment to a world of peace and brotherhood, and also to register a strong protest against neo-Nazism.

Joseph Rubinstein, Yiddish poet from New York, and Rabbis W. Gunther Plaut of Holy Blossom Temple and Walter S. Wurzbarger of Shaarei Shomayim Congregation, will be the principal speakers.

The assembly will be chaired by Meyer W. Gasner, Chairman of Canadian Jewish Congress, Central Region. Rabbi Stuart E. Rosenberg, the host Rabbi, will introduce the Memorial Service. Cantor Joseph Cooper will recite the Mourner's Prayer (El Mole Rachamim) and lead the assembly in reciting the Kaddish.

Pupils of Toronto Jewish Schools will light six memorial candles, symbolic of the millions who perished, and recite poems related to the tragedy. The Beth Tzedec Choir, under direction of Gordon Kushner, will perform songs of the ghetto and partisans.

The event has been arranged by a special Observance Committee under chairmanship of Kalman Berger and Saul Sigler, representative of all groups in the Jewish community, under the auspices of Canadian Jewish Congress.

IN DEFENSE OF FREEDOM

Now that Great Britain, mother of the Magna Charta and in the modern world symbol of a society of free men, finally has decided to take legal steps against racial propaganda, something of a similar nature may take place in Canada too.

True, some gentlemen here who pay lip service to legal steps against neo-Nazi propaganda have talked much about such a law. They've prattled so long about it — and I refer to persons in our own Jewish community as well as outside it — they have helped talk out the Klein-Walker bill in the federal parliament.

Some among them openly have opposed any legal limitations on the propagating of racial hatred and the dangerous genocide ideology on the grounds of defending civil liberties — a freedom not easily understood, since we deal here with bigots and fanatics whose sole aim is to destroy free nations by dividing them from within.

Others were insincere. Publicly they advocated such a law in principle; unofficially they criticized the so-called shortcomings and foibles in the Klein-Walker parliamentary bill to such an extent that they succeeded in postponing action.

Despite all oratory and publicity-battles surrounding the initiative of MPs Milton Klein and James Walker, it is apparent that the members of the External Affairs Committee of the House now studying the bill are considering it seriously. As it appears, we may see action in this area sooner than expected.

It is ludicrous to state that a bill outlawing hatred propaganda would infringe upon civil liberties. Those who truly believe in freedom must realize that in these times of trial and error men committed to the defense of human dignity must mobilize all their forces to protect freedom.

What could have been regarded fundamental in civil liberties during the liberal era of the fin de siècle cannot be, and should not be, considered sacrosanct in the post-Hitler period. What good is the study of history if we refuse to learn the lessons of the immediate past?

At the moment when the British people are prepared to accept certain restrictions on the dissemination of abusive writing and speech, and against incitement to hatred, here too, on this continent and in this country, the time has come to act in defense of the great heritage of tolerance and racial harmony so that freedom can protect itself.

I am sure something is going on in Ottawa. I think that people within and without the government finally realize that definite and effective measures must be taken against those rabble-rousers who are dedicated to the destruction of liberty. More than ever it seems as though such legal steps will be effectuated.

Since Friday is a holiday, the seventh day of Pesach, this week's issue of The Canadian Jewish News is dated Thursday, April 22nd. Also, in the holiday tradition, the newspaper is published this week with a skeleton staff. The editors, most of the members of the staff, editorial and administrative, are on vacation, which accounts for the fact that some features are omitted and some advertising has been left out. Next week The Canadian Jewish News will include its usual columns.

Your guests will rave about this delightful dessert. So delicious... so easy to make. Serve it flambe for added intrigue.

PARTY BABA RINGS

You'll need for the batter:

- | | |
|--|-----------------------------|
| 3/4 cup milk | 3 eggs, well-beaten |
| 1/2 cup granulated sugar | 1/2 teaspoon vanilla |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | 3 cups (about) pre-sifted |
| 3/4 cup Blue Bonnet Margarine or butter | all purpose flour |
| 1/2 cup lukewarm water | 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar |
| 1 teaspoon granulated sugar | 1 cup water |
| 1 envelope Fleischmann's Fast-Rising Dry Yeast | 1 tablespoon lemon juice |
| | 1/4 cup rum, optional |
| | Sieved marmalade |

1. Scald milk; stir in 1/2 cup sugar, salt and margarine. Cool to lukewarm.
 2. Meantime, measure lukewarm water into a bowl; stir in 1 tsp. sugar. Sprinkle with yeast. Let stand 10 mins., then stir well. Stir in milk mixture, eggs, vanilla and 2 cups of flour; stir until smooth. Stir in enough additional flour (about 1 cup) to make a medium-thick batter. Cover with a damp cloth. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, — about 1 1/2 hrs. Stir down batter; pour into 2 greased 8-cup ring molds. Cover and let rise as before — about 45 mins. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350°F) 20 to 25 mins.
- For sauce, gently boil the 1 1/2 cups sugar and 1 cup water for 10 mins. Stir in lemon juice and rum. Drizzle Babas with some of the syrup. Cover and allow to mellow 3 to 4 hrs. To serve reheat; turn out onto platter and brush with marmalade. Fill with ice cream or whipped cream. Flame with warm rum, if desired. Pass reheated syrup as sauce. Make two rings.

When you bake at home always depend on Fleischmann's... the active high rising yeast that never fails.

When You Bake At Home... Use Fleischmann's And Be Sure.

HUMAN RELATIONS

May-December Romance

DR. ROSE N. FRANZBLAU

QUESTION: What do you do in this case? Do you pull your hair out, cry your eyes out, or just have to suffer for being such a fool? I am that fool.

I was always happy-go-lucky, content with little (so, got little, now that I see things clearly).

My husband is retired, 65, in excellent health. All the money is in his name in the bank. He now tells me he has a girl of 25 and is going to marry her. He loves youth.

I have not let myself become fat and slovenly, but am falling apart now at this news. Have I been blind all these years?

ANSWER: Like the physiological changes that take place in a woman in the menopause, sometimes somewhat analogous psychological changes take place in a man, but later on.

This type of pseudo-menopause change in a man sometimes has the effect of either making them sexually impotent or of sending them off into a frenzy or sexual activity. It is as if, by showing how sexually able and wanted they are by others than their wife, they reassure themselves about their potency, desirability and youthfulness. Thus they also deny their years.

He will send out urgent messages and warning signals that he needs increased gratification and reassurance. But the wife may want to be left alone and refuses to recognize the warning signals. The husband begins to come home late, first one night, then a few nights a week. He may stay away from home occasional weekends. The wife is told now that his business affairs are for men only, etc.

Such a wife is very often one who never puts up too much of a fight for her rights.

If she got a little, she was still content because then she wouldn't have to give too much in return.

Her acceptance of little, without anger or rebellion, tells how undeserving she thinks she is.

It is always a great blow to a woman for a mate of many years to suddenly decide that he wants no more of her. She cannot understand why even the little bit that she was willing to accept as her portion, in order to preserve the peace, is being taken from her. But the man is saying by his wanderings that the wife in being so undemanding was really rejecting him. The little he gave was too much for her and she did not really want it.

If there is still time and your husband's plan is not yet a "fait accompli," it may be wise for you to put up a fight. Your husband may interpret it as a fight, not so much for your rights as for his love. This sometimes is precisely what a husband wants to see in response to his threat of punishment or desertion. The couple begin to fight, and may then begin to love and live together again.

Whatever may be the motivation of a girl of 25 who marries a man of 65, she certainly has some deep psychological problems or character weaknesses. Such young women usually do not want to be mothers or wives but hope to be young widows.

If you go to pieces, your husband will see in your breaking apart a justification for his wanting someone else. But if you are able to maintain a strong position, it may strengthen him to act in a healthier and more responsible way.

HERO OF ISRAEL

HE WILL NOT RETURN

by a SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

JERUSALEM — On the evening of 16 March 1965, the bell rang at the home of the Levis, a working family in a suburb of Haifa. The door was opened. The man who stood on the threshold was the bearer of the heartbreaking news that their young son, Shmuel, would never return.

So one more young Israeli had fallen to defend the young State, another Israeli life had been sacrificed to Arab unreason.

Shmuel was just nineteen. His schoolmates tell of a gay youngster who could not endure so much as a comrade suffer. He would do anything to lighten the dark mood of a dejected friend. And he often succeeded.

Shmuel had volunteered for military service ahead of his age-group. "I want to be free to live my whole civilian life, and I have no time to waste," he explained.

With a group of like-minded companions, members of the same youth movement, he entered Nahal, the formation which combines army training with farming. When he finished that instruction, he joined Kibbutz Almogor on the border with Syria, not far from where the Jordan River flows into Lake Kinneret.

The young settlers put a lot of labour into their new village. The soil was rocky and rigid, the stones had to be cleared by hand, the earth to be redeemed from the desolation of centuries.

Shmuel, who had a technical bent, was put to work very soon on heavy machinery. He became a tractorist. Each morning he went out to turn and plough the fields from which the Almogor farmers hope to make their livelihood.

From the other side of the stream in Syrian territory, the rehabilitation and cultivation of the neglected terrain were watched with jealous and unfriendly eyes.

Machine-guns started to shoot up the area as soon as work began. There were casualties. In recent months, the attacks had become more and more frequent. The Syrians concentrated artillery and mortars along the border, and greeted the Almogor tractorists each morning with spurts of fire.

A week earlier, Shmuel Levi had been ploughing alone, when shells whizzed in his direction. They shot at me, but, thank God! I managed to escape unhurt," he told his father, dismissing the danger lightly.

On the morning of 16 March, five tractors from Almogor went out. UN observers had just finished a survey and had affirmed unequivocally that the tract which Almogor was reclaiming was in the sovereign jurisdiction of the State of Israel.

Shmuel and his fellow-tractorists believed that not more than one shell would be fired by the Syrians, and that it would automatically draw answering fire from the Israeli forces protecting them. But where would it drop? The thought preys on their minds as they skillfully manoeuvre the tractors.

The work began at 0930 hours. The tractorists were making a path which would permit access to the river. At 1225 hours, a missile blazed from a Syrian post four hundred yards away. Shmuel Levi's luck, which had served him well so often before, was not with him this fateful time. His tractor went up in flames.

Risking their own lives, his friends rushed to him and removed him, gravely wounded, from the wreckage. They looked sadly down at him and then doggedly they climbed back on to their tractors without a word, and continued doggedly with their ploughing under a relentless Syrian fusillade.

What can I say? the father said, tears in his words. "He was a boy... a wonderful son... only three days ago he was here... he will never come back..."

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

MANDELBROT

- 2 eggs
 - 3/4 cup sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 2 teaspoons orange or lemon juice
 - 2 teaspoons grated orange or lemon rind
 - 1 1/2 cups matza meal
 - 1/2 cup coarsely chopped blanched almonds
- Beat eggs, sugar and salt until light and thick. Stir in remaining ingredients and let stand for 5 minutes. Grease a cookie tin and sprinkle surface lightly with matza meal. Form dough on pan into two rolls, each 12 inches in diameter and bake at moderate, 350 degrees, for 20 minutes. Cut rolls in 1/4 inch slices and replace on tin. Return to oven for another 3 or 4 minutes' baking.

HOLIDAYING? TAKE THE SMALL FRY

By RUTHIE

I don't know, maybe I'm a queer, but I can't imagine having a holiday without the children.

I look in amazement when a mother says, "Now I'll really enjoy myself. With the youngster in camp, I won't have to worry about a thing. He's safe, he's with children his own age, and I won't be tied down."

Right attitude? Wrong attitude? I guess it depends upon the individual. I admire the logic in someone else: nothing, God forbid, will happen to the kids. But, kill me, I can't be like that.

I'm the worrying type. Every little thing makes me jitter (shiver). Go take a weekend without the kids? Never. I'd fret every minute. Are they in mischief? What are they doing? Are they murdering themselves?

What good's a vacation if you stew all day? It's alright for someone else to say you're silly, but you can't change your nature.

With me, anyhow, everything goes upside down.

I remember the first holiday Ned and I took by ourselves. We left five-month-old Anne with Mama. We were away only three days but it seemed like three years. Whenever feeding time came around, I wondered, did she eat right? Of course, she was in good hands. Still...

Or else I worried, did Mama know where the suppositories were and did she know what to do with them?

For months I visualized what I'd do if I weren't tied down to the same daily schedule. Maybe I'd sleep all day. How wonderful not to have to jump out of bed at every wail! At night I'd go dancing. Who'd stop me?

Well, when the time came, I couldn't do any of these things. I just felt miserable. Sleep all day? Call it guilt complex, anything you like. I couldn't lie still with the thought of Mama being busy with my baby.

Go dancing? I was glad nobody bothered me. So we went home. And then I found out, Anne ran a high temperature the whole time we were away; she was cutting teeth. Mama wouldn't call to tell us to come home; she wanted us to have a good time.

Huh! If she only knew. Never again!

Finally I decided to go somewhere — with the kids, lock, stock and barrel. And you know, it wasn't so bad. In fact, I had a wonderful time.

It was Passover. Janie was eleven months old. I figured, heck! I needed a rest. Furthermore, it was bad enough getting regular food into the baby; I couldn't see myself struggling all week with Pesakh-dicka cereal.

So we went to the country. Well, let me tell you something, I never regretted it.

First of all, the meals the children were served were varied and tasty. With the limited diet that week, I didn't have to break my head over what to make. From all the variety, they ate something.

The baby slept better than at home. She bloomed.

We had the playpen and all day long she lay in the sun. Not a peep out of her. It didn't matter what I did as long as I could throw an eye on her.

Was I free? I never had so many babysitters. Everybody wanted to play with her. There was always someone who wanted to swing her; somebody always wanted to walk her.

Diapers weren't a problem. I used disposables. The casino was close by. I had a ball every night. With day camp facilities, I saw the other children at mealtime.

Maybe people thought I was crazy, always sleeping (dragging) the kids along. But then I didn't have double worries; if anything happened, I was there.

Taking the youngsters can turn into a definite asset at times. On a plane you get the VIP treatment. First of all, with a baby you get the front seat. Right on the wall are clamps from which a small canvas cradle hangs. Also, not to be ignored is the fact that you can stretch your legs.

Baby wants a bottle? The stewardess warms it up. Older children are provided with coloring books and crayon, cookies, milk, juice, chewing gum, anything they want. And thanks to their friendliness you meet so many nice people.

I admit, you are confined to a degree. But it's worth it. Children grow up all too quickly. And when you are tired of all the gallivanting, what have you to remember.

NEW ANTISEMITISM IN SOUTH AMERICA

NEW YORK (JCNIS) — A new type of antisemitism which has grown in strength in South America applies a policy of "divide and conquer", aiming at separating Jews from the other democratically-oriented intellectuals and from each other.

This approach had been described by Mr. Manuel Tenenbaum, of Montevideo, Uruguay, a member of the South American Executive of the World Jewish Congress. As president of the Co-ordinating Committee of Latin American Jewish Youth, Mr. Tenenbaum participated in the recent meeting of the Consultative Committee for Co-operation Among World Jewish Youth.

Mr. Tenenbaum told the American Section of the W.J.C. that three elements were at work in Latin America: Nazis who had come there after the Second World War; the "home-grown" fascists; and the agitators of the Arab League.

The "unholy alliance", which stated that it was attacking "Zionists" not "Jews", had attempted to accuse South American Jewry of disloyalty. The antisemitic triumvirate had tried to cut the Jews off from their traditional allies, the non-Jewish intellectuals. In addition, accusations of disloyalty had made South American Jews hesitant to identify themselves with Zionism and Israel.

HISTADRUT DRIVE IN ACTION

ISRAELI YOUTH BENEFITS BY AMAL SCHOLARSHIPS

Amal Scholarship for Bat Mitzvah

A very happy event took place on Saturday, April 17th, at the Beth Shalom Synagogue, when Helen Ann Grusko was called to the Torah to celebrate her Bat Mitzvah. Helen Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Grusko, members of the Beth Shalom.

The Grusko family is devoted to the State of Israel, having previously contributed a substantial sum toward the Rabbi David Monson Youth Centre in Or Yehuda. To mark the occasion of their daughter's Bat Mitzvah, Mr. and Mrs. Grusko decided that, rather than spend the money on a big party as is the custom in our city — and with the full approval of Helen Ann — they would make a contribution to a worthy cause in Israel and establish the Helen Ann Grusko Scholarship in a Histadrut Amal Trade School.

Knowing that Helen Ann preferred the granting of a scholarship to a needy Israeli youth rather than a personal gift, her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ferst, also contributed $250.00 for an Amal Scholarship.

The presentation of both certificates was made by Rabbi David Monson.

Business Men Set an Example

The Histadrut Amal Scholarship Fund was increased by a generous gift of $250.00 for one scholarship from Messrs. Benjamin Goldglass, Isadore Simmons and Michael Steinman of the Dominion Hosiery Mills.

Sunnyside Lodge I.O.O.F. Presents Scholarship

On the recommendation of Dr. L. Lockhart, the members of the Sunnyside Lodge, Oddfellows, voted unanimously to support the Amal Scholarship Fund by giving a $250.00 scholarship so that a needy youth may attend an Amal Vocational School. The United Organizations for Histadrut, with which they are affiliated, wish to thank Messrs. E. Donn, Noble Grand; Jack Finn, Vice Noble Grand; Harry Mandelbaum, Treasurer; Nat Greenspoon, Izzy Zenner and all the members of the Lodge for this noble gesture and their continued support.

Farband Branch Raises Funds for Perpetual Scholarships

To celebrate their 25th anniversary as a branch in the Farband Labour Zionist Order, the members of the Schlesinger Br. no 138 felt that this auspicious event should be marked by something more than just a banquet.

They decided, therefore, to commemorate this milestone of their existence by undertaking a worthwhile project on behalf of Israel. After due consideration they chose to contribute involved with three confidence men who want to be included in his will.

$5,000.00 for two Perpetual Scholarships for vocational training in Israel. The money will be invested in Israeli industry and the interest will provide enough to give two needy Israeli students free tuition and board in perpetuity in an Amal Vocational Trade School.

Born in Chicago and raised in California, Mr. Creley has appeared in many productions in Canada. He appeared at Hart House in Salad Days, at Stratford in After Hours, in Romeo and Juliet (played Capulet). Two years ago he was in England where he worked with Peter Sellers in Stanley Kubrick's Dr. Strangelove. In Toronto, last fall he starred in the CBC's Show of the Week's production of Malcom Marmorstein's I Ran Into This Zulu.

The Typists and the Tiger Running Strong
The Typists and The Tiger, starring Sylvia and Ben Lennick, seem to have become permanent fixtures at the Hydro Theater.

Ben Lennick has alternated between acting, directing and teaching. His long, variety of parts ranges from the role of Macbeth to the Mad Demon in an annual series of Mother Goose Pantomimes. On TV he has run the gamut from Sholem Aleichem dramas to Shopsy commercials, also doing characters in comic shows that were intended as dramas. As stage director in 1950, he was awarded the Louis Jovet Trophy. His productions include Born Yesterday, Awake and Sing, The Taming of the Shrew, All My Sons, The Fifth Season, My Sister Eileen.

Sylvia Lennick endeared herself on the Ed Sullivan show with Wayne and Shuster with one line in the Julius Caesar sketch: I told him, Julie don't go.

She comprised the other half of the team on the long-running radio program, At Home With the Lennicks. Among her stage appearances are Born Yesterday, My Sister Eileen, Awake and Sing, Rocket to

Who do you think you are?

(9 common fantasies people concoct on their first trip abroad.)

At your travel agent...

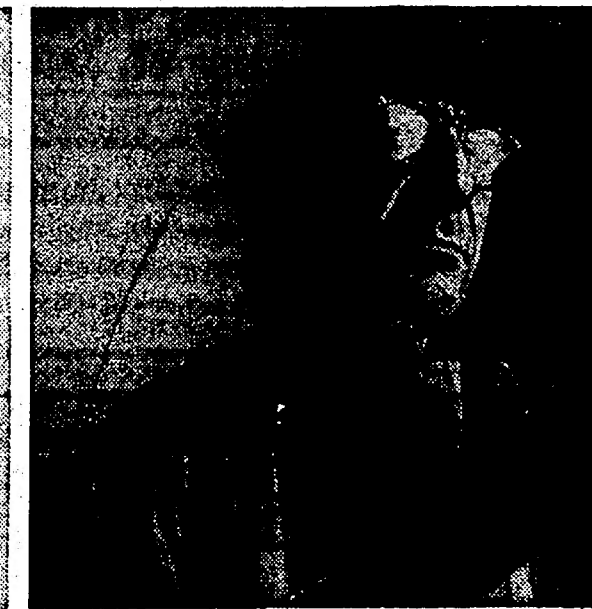

you feel like a babe in the woods. But don't worry. Just be sure to see a travel agent first. He knows all there is to know about your trip. Including what to wear, from the skin out.

At your doctor...

you feel like a walking dartboard. But don't worry. All you need to get back into the U.S.A. is a recent smallpox vaccination. You ought to have one anyway, so it can't hurt.

At the passport office...

you feel like Agent X-5. But don't worry. All you need to get your passport is $10, proof of citizenship, a nice clear 2"x2" photograph and a nice clear conscience. Spies need not apply.

At the weigh-in counter...

you feel like a beast of burden. But don't worry. You probably won't go over the limit. You can take 44 lbs. in economy class or 66 lbs. in first class, plus what you can jam into your pockets.

When the pilot smiles at you...

you feel like Steve Canyon. But don't worry. Even though the EL AL pilot might appreciate your helpful advice, he's flown over a million miles himself. Steve could learn things from him.

On board the EL AL jet...

you feel like the only passenger. But don't worry. Business is O.K. We have a knack for making everyone feel that way. And that may be the reason why business is as good as it is.

When the stewardess smiles at you...

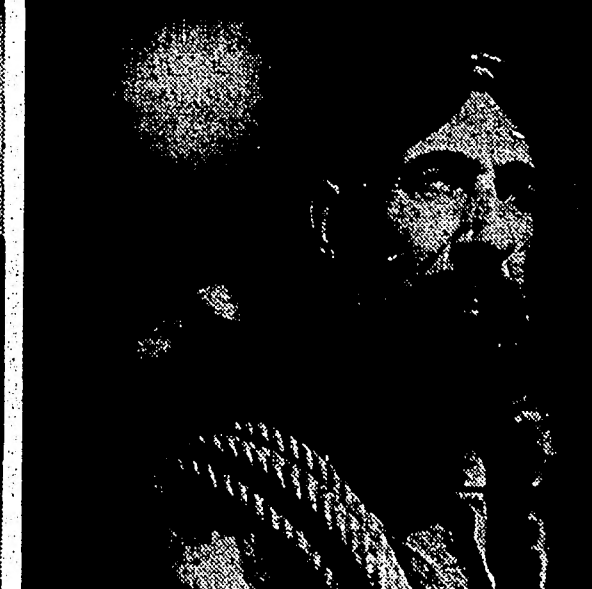

you feel like Gregory Peck. But don't worry. The EL AL stewardess is very experienced. She knows exactly how much smile will get a man steamed up without getting his wife steamed up.

At the customs agent...

you feel like an international jewel thief. But don't worry. Nobody's trying to trap you. You can bring home an armful of trinkets, including $100 worth duty-free.

When you're back home...

you feel like a world authority. But don't worry. When you whip out your home movies and tell everyone about your experiences, they'll fall asleep on you just the way they always did.

Whoever you think you are, EL AL Israel Airlines will fly you like a person to 17 cities on 3 continents.

GROSSINGER FUN FELLOW

Lou (Simon Sez) Goldstein is a clever, funny fellow who'll make you rock with laughter when you're at Grossinger's. Often imitated, but never equalled, he's so loaded with talent, ability, and material that he can keep you happily entertained all day long, seven days a week. His comedy routines, Simon Sez shows, organized lectures, forums, guided tours, athletic programs, and other features, all generously flavored with his particular brand of humor and comedians, will delight you. His fun is just what the doctor ordered. So, take advantage of this happy situation. Join the happy people. C'mon to Grossinger's!

THEY SAY WE'RE "CRAZY"...

When we urge our clients to book NOW for next winter. Every year we have to bite our tongue to stop saying "We told you so last spring". At last many of those who know that they go away every winter are planning ahead and they will get their reservations.

Planning a Trip?

Call Murray Helfetz or Allan Webber for information and reservations on air and sea travel, hotels, resorts, cruises and tours. Let Dominion take the trouble out of travel!
